PRESENTS

MANUSCRIPTS FOR INVESTIGATION

CLOSED ROOM BRIEF

INTRODUCTION

Given below are sources- either from news clippings or anchors from television. These are to be treated as opinions, of course. None of the matters have been stated as the truth and the whole truth.

Do note that there is no freeze date. Prepare thoroughly.

Specific representations, entities and people in positions of power will be present in a Closed Room Brief, where each of you will ask detailed and valuable questions in order to unveil the truth.

We, the Executive Board, expect utmost diplomacy in your endeavours with these personnel. This must not be treated lightly- as like an interrogation of sorts.

Collaborate with your fellow reporters, present well with facts and never lose your calm.

Good luck,
The Executive Board of IPC

NOTES TO FOLLOW

All reporters must prepare three questions, with the best of all to be asked. If time permits, you may be allowed to present more questions.

Reporters must collaborate and decide on the questioning order and follow-ups.

Always ask for permission from the EB before asking for a follow-up.

You will be seated from left to right, based on the reporter going first seated on the far left.

Order of questioning is as follows, with the example of three reporters:

ROUND 1:

Reporter 1: Question and primary followup

Reporter 2: Secondary followup

Reporter 3: Tertiary followup

ROUND 2:

Reporter 2: Question and primary followup

Reporter 1: Secondary followup

Reporter 3: Tertiary followup

This will continue until all reporters exhaust their questions. Note that questioning goes from a left to right format.

Also note that reporters must prepare questions for only the scenarios of the committee they are assigned to: a reporter from UNHRC will prepare for the one defined as UNHRC and not the others.

The committees are defined before each scenario.

SOURCE A

The European economy today sees a 15% drop in GDP. The poor are getting poorer, the rich are, well, doing well for now. With unemployment at an all time high and a housing crisis underway, people have turned to using Euros as wallpaper as it's cheaper than paint.

SOURCE B

It's official: Europe has begun to deport refugees in droves as housing becomes a huge problem. Germany and France seem to be the first few to turn most refugees outside, ignoring the glaring hellhole of human trafficking and sweatshops waiting for them.

Many have reported to try to seek asylum in the USA and Canada, but to no avail. Deportation seems to be the only option, but the war is a no-go.

In the same page, minor grenades went off at a warehouse in Arizona, with Quranic verses scrawled out in ash on the remains of concrete. An act of terror? A warning?

SOURCE C

Trump on TRUTH Social posted an edit of himself standing in front of a garden fence with a spray painted board reading "GREAT WALL." The captions say: "We need to build the biggest, most beautiful wall to keep those Aufgawnys out! They're coming, and we won't let them!"

SOURCE D

Biden on LIVE: "America will not see another 9/11. We have to be extremely cautious about the inflow of terrorists- I mean, refugees from Afghanistan."

Malala Yousafzai, on X, replied: "Dangerous rhetoric, dangerous mindset. Refugees are fleeing terror, not bringing it. Do better."

In a span of two hours, 11k reposts with the hashtags #dumpthedumpingground and #notourpresident has taken over virtually every social media page today.

SOURCE E

Drone footage has discovered an actual wall being planned at the outskirts of the USA, where some Afghani refugees have set up shelters while waiting for asylum. Some were reported as being labourers for the cause, but nothing has been made official.

But theorists have pointed at the recent meeting between Joe Biden and Donald J Trump, especially moments where they engaged in private conversation. A crude lip reading reveals part of their conversation to be about "the Wall," "stock crash," and "use those moose as labourers."

SOURCE F

Mr Trump, as part of his campaigning address, makes thundering statements in lieu of the Arizona grenade attack, calling it a "miniature 9/11." When asked about the wall, he says, "The Wall's gonna get built, folks. It's gonna be a beautiful one, and guess what, it's gonna be built by the likes of those sickos trying to take our hard earned jobs away. We're giving them a job now, eh? Better like that."

A few moments later, near the White House, bombs went off. While there were no casualties, eyewitnesses claim to have seen "exotic" men wearing MAGA merchandise fleeing from the scene, with one exclaiming: "They're them sleeper agents!"

While Mr Biden was ushered to safety, we do not know about his health or of any potential attempts on his life.

CONCLUSION

Former president Donald J Trump, seemingly more affiliated with the Biden administration than the actual person himself, will address the concerns of citizens alongside a panel of reporters.

Elon on X posts an image of himself receiving the first ever dose of the Anti-AMR, produced by CureVac. Still in stages of testing, he says: "This new vaccine is a game changer. Let us work together to eradicate every AMR disease once and for all. Time for a global rollout."

Funnily, he also sports a shirt with the face of Andrew Wakefield on it. Mixed signals, much? In usual X fashion, memes are flooding the internet.

SOURCE B

AI is back, everyone, and it seems that Elon's finding a new use for it. Recent updates by CureVac show the usage of a special screening AI to monitor side effects and also to control the distribution of the drug all over the world.

However, experts say that the algorithms used were trained on a dataset prone to liabilities and bias, often racial. Reports from distribution centres show hispanic minorities in Arizona are turned away after being flagged as drug dealers and criminals. Police forces stationed near the centres have been carrying out arrests without basis, reaching a maximum of 15% from the previous 7% of those related to drug dealing.

But the correlation between getting a vaccine and being a different race is still not clarified by CureVac.

SOURCE C

Whistleblowers from CureVac and Tesla published a document containing leaks from emails on X. While it was removed within minutes, the file has been crossposted on various sites, ranging from Tumblr to even Reuters. It lists a fabricated clinical result of Elon's first administration of the Anti-AMR vax and shows that the AI bias was intentionally programmed. But for what? Local netizens are on the case.

SOURCE D

A biotech lab in Japan, endorsed by Martin Lomax and Josef Heiter, previously from CureVac, have released reports on the Anti-AMR, which shows that it shows no sign of building immunity, but rather creates a new, more resistant strain of AMR, with no hyperboles intended.

Lab tests on rats show that they turn a light shade of green or completely yellow. It also promotes rapid division of dead tissue as well as tumours near the cerebrum. Dr Heiter, in an interview, says: "This attempt at a vaccine is, to put it simply, a scam. People are dying, but Musk seems to prefer his money."

One does have to note that Dr Heiter has been an ardent researcher in gene splices and has announced multiple times to be inspired by human experiments conducted by the Third Reich.

SOURCE E

Elon Musk at his latest showcase about beta-testing the Neuralink, has been tomato-ed, revealing that he had a full body of makeup on. The twist? He's green underneath. The audience also note the constant drooling and the excessive pauses between words, with an observation: "He like, looks sort of like a zombie now, innit?"

Before we conclude, news from the East uncovers the dark truth of collaboration between the Third Reich and Japan, with remains of a human centipede discovered in almost pristine condition. Kept in secrecy by the government, they have now made it public, sending ripples of shock throughout Germany and Japan. American seem to comment: "We thought it was just a movie!"

SOURCE F

A conspiracy shows that Dr Heiter and Dr Lomax were in the cabinet of discussion during the discovery of the human centipede. To note, this was before Dr Heiter cut all ties with CureVac, leading to various speculations online. Some conspirators, from pictures released, are talking about a potential connection between the Anti-AMR vaccine and the remains.

As a response, Musk on X: "A vax made with rotting corpses? What's next, AI chips in our brains? Pshh."

Oh, the irony.

CONCLUSION

Elon Musk, owner of Tesla and X, will convene in APL grounds to address reporters on the concerns of a strange zombie-creating vaccine, an outlier from Tokyo, and some confused AI.

BREAKING: Ebrahim Raisi's death has been attributed to Russian personnel, CIA reveals. Pictures of sniping positions and traces of weapons (Russian!) have been revealed in this groundbreaking discovery.

The body of the late president was found alongside a tape recording containing what seemed to be Russian curses pointed towards Mr Raisi before his apparent assassination. More news coming up!

SOURCE B

Pictures are making the rounds on X, Reddit, Tumblr and more! Ebrahim Raisi, according to these netizens, has been spotted at Disneyland. Or more clearly, in a bunker underneath the theme park. A caricature of him and Mickey Mouse has also been reposted with the hashtag #RaisiandMickey

Upon further research by fact checkers, these pictures seem to be photoshopped, but one picture has been confirmed to be real- a bearded man surrounded by Oompa Loompas.

SOURCE C

Donald J Trump has been exchanging blows with the incumbent president on X. “What’s he gonna call our White House? The Red Kremlin?”

This was in reply to a misspeak by Biden at an address, where he mixed up Putin and Zelensky’s names. The internet has taken to creating edits with Biden in Soviet attire alongside Zoya the Destroya.

SOURCE D

As Iran cuts weapon exports to Russia, Bashar al-Assad, the Syrian President, has been in talks with Biden about potential deportation of Syrian refugees back to their homeland.

More news from Israel report movement of new troops near the Golan Heights, and eyewitnesses say that they are from a new faction of Al Qaeda moving forward to seize land from Israel for their brethren.

Concerningly, they were also heard chanting “Velav Jove Bydah” whilst marching on with firearms, taking out multiple IDF soldiers in one fell swoop.

SOURCE E

In a historical move, Russia has left the JCPOA as rising tensions point towards a fracture of bonds with Iran and the Russian Federation.

President Vladimir Putin, in a press conference stated: “We have no room for traitors. We have no room for betrayers. If they wish to look at the West, they shall burn their behinds with the Sun’s rays.”

SOURCE F

President Biden, invoking the Leahy law, has announced the complete stop of all aid to Israel. Conservatives are at an outrage, calling him a communist sympathiser.

The Left, while not sharing the sentiment, are incredibly confused at the matter, unable to relate the astounding string of successes for the United States to a “senile, dementia-riddled man.”

CONCLUSION

President Joe Biden will address reporters in lieu of clearing rumours of a fragmented geopolitical arena.
